Headline:
Outbreaks of heavy rain associated with Storm Christoph. Flood Risk.

Today:
Heavy rain continues through the morning. Occasional drier interludes in the afternoon, but any rainfall will be very heavy when it occurs. Mild, but feeling chilly in strong winds. Coastal gales and a continued flood risk. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
Torrential rain moves in from the west. Clearing by late evening, with a drop in temperatures, to clearer, showery condition. Winds remain strong, with risk of coastal gales. Minimum temperature 1 deg C (34 deg F).

Thursday:
Cold, plenty of sunny spells and a few blustery showers. Strong winds, gradually easing. Showers confined to the far southwest later, followed by a mostly clear, and possibly frosty, night. Maximum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Cold, risks of ice, and breezy, particularly around coasts, with locally heavy showers throughout. Sunny spells with blustery showers Friday, becoming widespread into Saturday. Further showers Sunday.
